

Documentary

THE STONE ROSES

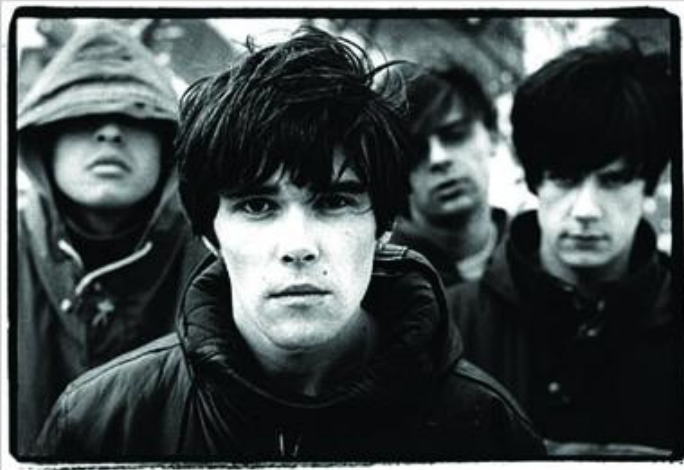

A DOCUMENTARY

By Paul McAuley

A 65-minute documentary about The Stone Roses, widely considered to be one of the most influential bands of their generation.

Currently screening on YouTube, the documentary features exclusive contributions from those closest to the band (John Robb, Ian Tilton...)

"...highly informative and entertaining."
Paul Schroeder

This Is The Daybreak
features exclusive interviews with:

AZIZ IBRAHIM
ANDY WATTS
JOHN LECKIE
IAN TILTON
SIMON DAWSON
HUGH CALDER
PAUL SCHROEDER
CRESSA
JOHN ROBB
DAVE SIMPSON
PENNIE SMITH
TOM SHEEHAN
ROBBIE MADDIX
DAN BIERTON
MICK MIDDLES
PAUL DU NOYER
SIMON HALE

www.thisisthedaybreak.co.uk

Feedback from site visitors:

"...not only the best Stone Roses site, but the best band dedicated site I have ever come across."

"...clearly the most comprehensive and informed Stone Roses site... your analysis is thoroughly researched, and shows a huge depth of cultural, musical and religious knowledge."

"...a rather splendid Roses fansite...it's a fantastic source for all things Roses based."

(Music News Editor of Xfm, Matt Everitt)

In 2008, I made a documentary on The Stone Roses, which can be viewed in full on YouTube.

If you enjoyed watching this documentary, donations (of any amount) can be made to my PayPal account, to help with the upkeep of my website. My PayPal username is

Paul@Thisisthedaybreak.co.uk

YouTube channel: <https://www.youtube.com/user/leemavers>

ive read all the roses books, watched the documentries, but ive come away from this having more of an insight than ever, brilliant... best band of all time.

faytalitysss 3 years ago amazing documentary, well done- top quality...is it possible to get a dvd of this?

themusicbod 3 years ago

Best documentary i've ever seen on the stone roses. Great job whoever made this, you should do this for a living.

vincentinogitash 2 years ago

That was awesome! Love the Roses always have always will and this docu was a real pleasure to watch thanks for posting this some stuff I've never seen before which was great.

spartan2549 2 years ago

This was an excellent documentary. Pleasure to watch. Well put together, focused on the music, unbiased and showed it how it was. Guess we will need a new chapter now. Heres to the Roses, Manchester, Heaton and beyond.

Faceman825 8 months ago

Dbusdriver71

about documentary.

07/21/09

I want to say what an excellent documentary on the Stone Roses. It is probably the most complete documentary on the Roses as I have heard. You should be commended. I still believe they were so close to superstardom. They would have come to America and made one hell of an impact. I was there at Blackpool and Spikeisland. I truly believed they were as good as the Rolling Stones which is a really big thing to say. I thought they had such big plans ahead of them. But a lot of people still are trying to understand them but don't. To me, what huge opportunities they had. For a moment, the music world was within reach; but the moment passed them by. This is cheesy, but I have written on other blogs is what the Stone Roses should be proudest of is that they saved England from the 80's and laid the foundation for modernday British Rock and Roll. Nirvana may have contributed but it was the Stone Roses that are the most responsible for the tremendous musical explosion in the 90's. They would have toured America, become filthy rich and been the next really big thing. It really breaks my heart.